SOUTH END

South End is located immediately south of Uptown and is well-served by the Blue Line light rail line with four stations at the heart of the neighborhood. Initially a bustling industrial zone trafficked by multiple freight lines and populated with textile factories and other warehouses, today South End is a dynamic urban neighborhood with a mix of rehabbed historic structures and new transit-oriented development first sparked by the re-introduction of the Charlotte Trolley in the 90's and subsequent opening of the light rail line in 2007. South End is home to a burgeoning craft brewery scene, multiple art galleries and beloved local shops, restaurants and is emerging as a regional employment center.
